5. Offloading accounting: structural work and measured communication remain separate